JOHNNY WONDER

Q. HOW DO CAVITIES FORM IN TEETH?

ROBBY COOK, OF EUCLID, OH., WINS A PRIZE FOR THIS QUESTION.

A. Your teeth are pretty tough, but they must have care in order to stay healthy. After you eat, tiny bits of food are left between your teeth. If these bits of food are not brushed away, bacteria in the mouth ferment the sugars and starches in the food, making acids. The acids may eat through the hard tooth enamel to form cavities. After the tooth enamel has been damaged, the decay can go right through to the sensitive soft center of your tooth and give you a toothache. A visit to the dentist is the only remedy for tooth decay once it occurs.

You can win a World Aids and your question is selected. Send your name and age to JOHNNY WONDER, c/o the newspaper, P.O. Box 1234, Santa Cruz, CA 95061.
